From The Desk of CEO, Paul Carolan

As we reach the close of 2025, I am reminded of the remarkable strength of the communities we serve and the incredible impact we create together. This year has been one of growth, gratitude, and an unwavering commitment to lifesaving purpose for southern Alberta.

Throughout the year we continued to build momentum in every area of our organization. Our fundraising efforts expanded, our events reached new audiences, and our presence across southern Alberta grew stronger. Partnerships deepened, awareness increased, and more people than ever connected with the mission that drives us. Each success mattered, but none mattered more than the lives touched through every mission we flew. Those moments are the true measure of our work.

As we prepare for a new year, we are focused on elevating HALO even further. This includes continued enhancements to our operations, meaningful investments in the sustainability of our service, and new opportunities to bring our supporters closer to the lifesaving impact they make possible. These plans reflect careful consideration and a clear vision for the future of emergency medical delivery in our region.

To everyone who stood with us this year, thank you. Your generosity, encouragement, and belief in HALO continue to shape what we are able to achieve. We enter the coming year with optimism, determination, and a profound sense of gratitude.

On behalf of the Board of Directors and the entire HALO team, I wish you a safe and hopeful holiday season. We look forward to continuing this journey with you in 2026.

Best,

This Is Our WHY

a Foster Family Story

What began as an ordinary summer camping trip in Elkwater for the Foster family filled with laughter, bike rides, and the simple joy of being together suddenly spiraled into every parent's worst nightmare.

Six year old Grayson had taken off down a steep hill on his bike, something he had done countless times. But this time the bike was not his own. The brakes felt different. As he picked up speed he could not stop. His terrified screams cut through the trees and moments later he collided with a truck.

Grayson's mother will never forget the sound that followed.

"I ran out of the trailer," she said. "His shirt was covered in blood, and I could see the panic in his face. I knew right away this was serious."

Two hours away, Grayson's father was at work when the call came.

"You never think it will be your family," he said. "I was told my son had been hit by a truck and that was it. No details. Nothing. You are supposed to protect your kids, and in that moment, I couldn't."

While fear and uncertainty overwhelmed the family, HALO Air Ambulance was already on its way.

Within minutes, HALO's crew found a safe landing spot in a narrow clearing surrounded by trees. Their skill and precision made it possible to reach Grayson quickly. They stabilized his injuries and prepared him for the urgent flight to hospital care, a journey that would have taken hours by road.

"For me, it was a breath of relief knowing HALO was there with him," his mother said. "If something had gone wrong on the drive, they could handle it right away. Knowing HALO was with my son gave me hope."

"For me, it was a breath of relief knowing HALO was there with him...Knowing HALO was with my son gave me hope."

- Sonja, Grayson's Mother

At the hospital, Grayson's father stood outside the emergency doors, praying to hear the helicopter arrive.

"I could not hear it and I was praying. Then I saw them bring him in. When I finally saw him, I just needed to be there with him. As a dad, you cannot describe that feeling."

Grayson had suffered a broken arm and a deep head wound. Two doctors worked together to repair the damage. But what his parents remember most are his words as he lay on the hospital bed.

"He looked up at us and said, 'I don't want to die.'"

Those words still echo today and serve as a reminder of how close they came to losing him. Thanks to HALO, they did not.

Today, Grayson is healed. He is smiling, energetic, and full of life. His family will never forget the sound of HALO's rotor blades or the calm and steady voices of the crew who brought help when it mattered most.

"I will always be grateful," his dad said. "Without HALO, who knows what would have happened. They brought calm in the middle of our storm."

Grayson's story is a powerful reminder that every time HALO answers the call, Hope Takes Flight. Your support makes moments like his possible.
